

Dear Pramesh,

We have one week left on our trip to Plumsted.

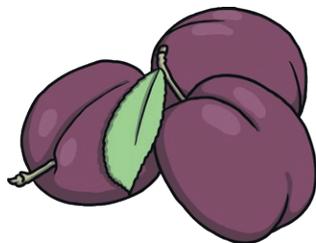

We had a plan to go and pick some plums but the trees were too wet so we got some plump plums from the shop at the end of the road.

When we got back from the shop, we had to prod and press the bell so hard. We think Dad was playing a prank on us!

Now, we have a plot to trick him too. We have left him a printout of a Plumsted map with all of the streets missing!

We will tell you the rest of the plot next week.
