

Captain Tom to Receive Knighthood

What is a knighthood?

- A knighthood is a special honour given to people by The Queen.
- After being knighted, the titles 'Sir' and 'Dame' may be used.

Captain Tom, the 100-year-old fundraising Second World War veteran, is to receive a knighthood. The Queen confirmed the honour on Tuesday. Once he is knighted, he will be known as Captain Sir Tom Moore.

Captain Tom said in a message on social media, "I am absolutely overwhelmed. Never for one moment could I have imagined I would be awarded with such a great honour."

He was recommended for a knighthood by Prime Minister Boris Johnson. Mr Johnson described Tom as being a "beacon of light" and "a national treasure" for his fundraising for the NHS.

Prince William and Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, have also praised him for being a "one-man fundraising machine".

But what is a knighthood? A knighthood is given by The Queen to people who have made exceptional contributions to society. The honour first started in the middle ages.

During a special ceremony, The Queen touches the shoulders of a person with a sword. After being knighted, the titles 'Sir' and 'Dame' may be used.

Famous knights and dames include Sir Andy Murray, a tennis player, and Dame Emma Thompson, an actor who has appeared in many films.

garden to raise money for the NHS Charities Together. He wanted to finish the challenge before his 100th birthday.

Captain Tom wanted to show support for NHS workers as they help those affected by COVID-19.

At first, Captain Tom set himself the target of raising £1000. However, he inspired so many people that this target was soon overtaken! He has now raised almost £33 million for charity.

After completing the 100 laps of his garden, he released a song called 'You'll Never Walk Alone'. It reached number 1 in the UK charts.

On his 100th birthday, on 30th April, he received over 100 000 birthday cards!
