Handprint Monkey

Supplies

- A4 paper
- Paint (brown and green)
- Paintbrushes
- Shallow tray or plate
- Scissors
- Glue
- Green wool
- Googly eyes
- Felt-tip pens
- Monkey face template

1 First, paint your hand using a brush and some paint or dip your hand into a shallow tray/plate of paint. Next, gently press your hand onto the middle of a piece of paper. Remove your hand and allow the print to dry. Don't forget to wash your hands!

5 Stick some googly eyes onto the monkey's face.

2 Carefully use a little more brown paint to paint on a tail opposite to your thumbprint.

6 Next, put a little glue along the top of the page, near to your printed fingers. Then lay some green wool onto the glue as vines for your monkey to climb!

3 If you have used the black and white version, you may wish to colour or paint your monkey's face before carefully cutting out the template.

7 Once the glue is dry, dip a finger into some green paint and print some leaves along the woolly vines. Leave to dry and wash your hands.

4 Once the handprint is dry, stick the monkey's head on top of your thumb. The monkey's legs (your printed fingers) should be at the top of the page.
